Austris has developed UX and frontend side for various tools. Austris' UX knowledge and design skills has let us cut out the need for a graphic design, therefore optimizing our workflow. He holds the development within projects style book and comes up with new necessary UX elements when needed and carries that out very well.

— Kristofs Blaus, CEO at Creative.gs

Austris is very passionate in Web development and thats what I love about him. He thinks out of the box, understands the “big picture” and most importantly loves programming!
